

The Working Mind

The Working Mind is a training program designed to initiate a change in how you think, feel, and act about mental health. You will learn to: build mental health literacy, break down stigma, strengthen communication skills, and improve resilience

To find out when your next training session is, contact:

Notes:

Opening Minds

To learn more about
The Working Mind, visit
openingminds.org